

The middle relm imploded in 2011. This caused space time to shift (get all janky)
and the loss of the human race. No one knows why.

Humans were a complex race of bipedal muscular frames that contained consciousness. Many people think they were made to store information and interpret it to make more sense. Others think that they just spawned in and had no real purpose. No matter what they were made for, they made the surface of the earth (a coquial name for the middle realm) their home!

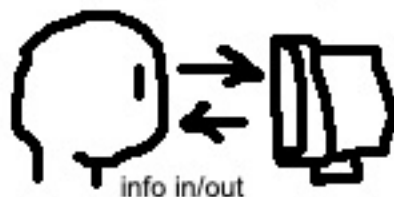

Coupons has to be the most well known part of human culture. Thousands of beings through out the 8 realms have collected coupons for fun and (if your in the market for RARE ONES) for status. But this ancient civilization has influenced us more than we realized!

Clothes

Clothing (especially in the last relm) was heavily influenced by artifacts falling through space time rifts during the early history of the fuana evolving (example; earth brand skechers being found in a pre wood burning engine hut)

Web interactions

The way we format our websites and the way the web has developed, reflex the way humans talked on archived forums and web broadcast hosting servers. Though they might look different, Their web terminal were very similar to ours! (Diagram below)

Literature

Even though human books are made of fragile materials, some physical copies were preserved. These were often scientific & philosophy books. Influencing the way we approach science and the way we muse about life's meaning and all that hublaa. But even if most of their physical copies were destroyed, reading terminals called "kindles" contained tons of digital fiction books. Early literary geniuses often pulled from these for metaphors and plot progression.

A recovered authentic coupon Ambrosha (my friend) gave me for birthing day!

Where is it safe to stay?

After hearing all those great things about the human race, you might want to visit earth. Luckily sections 2 & 3 are Tembrous Spuma free! Some of the abandoned houses are even comfy!

! BUT BE CAREFUL! !

Not all sections of the middle realm are safe! Rifts can open anywhere on the earth's surface and you can end up some place you shouldn't be.

We made this nifty little graph to see if the section your in is safe!
